

May 2003, Pelican Analytics LLC Announces Laboratory Relocation

For Immediate Release

[Monmouth Junction, NJ]---Pelican Analytics LLC announces relocation of its laboratory to Monmouth Junction, NJ. The new facility is located on U. S. Route 1 in Princeton Plaza, a corporate park that is home to many established and start-up high tech companies.

According to Dr. John Fiorino, owner and founder of Pelican Analytics, “ We needed additional laboratory space to support the expansion of our business. This is an excellent location for us. North and central New Jersey have a high density of chemicals, energy, specialty metals, and pharmaceutical companies. These are the industries that make up our customer base and our new location will help us to serve them better.”

Pelican Analytics LLC is a commercial analytical services laboratory offering consulting and analytical services to the chemicals, specialty metals, energy, and pharmaceutical industries. Located in Monmouth Junction, NJ, the company specializes in the determination of metals, focusing on metals for which high accuracy and precision are required.
